

BILLY PETER

My name is Billy Peter, born on 1 July 2007. I am the third born in a family of six children and lucky to have both parents alive. My parents, though alive, do not live together. They moved separate ways three years ago due to misunderstandings. As a result, we have been staying at our home with only our dad. My father is a small-scale farmer. He plants maize and bananas. We have failed to plant crops on our farm for two consecutive years because of land conflict between my grandmother and dad. There is a court case stopping my father from cultivating the piece of land. Therefore, we are unable to produce anything from our farm. My dad is doing odd jobs to feed us. He cultivates nucleus estate fields for meager pay.

I did my Kenya Certificate for Primary Education (KCPE) exam in 2020. I scored 365 marks. It was all joy to get such a good score. I thanked God for giving me the success. I was able to score good marks because of the much effort I dedicated to classwork. My teachers all loved me. They encouraged me to work smart. I participated in athletics and drama while in primary school. My hobby is drawing. I draw nearly everything around me without much effort. Drawing is a thing I began when I was in grade 3.

Last month I joined LIVING HOPE HIGH SCHOOL. My father heard about the school from a friend. The school prides itself on good performance and discipline. I was happy being part of the noble school as a student. I am sure that I will pass the exams in this school. The environment at the school is conducive. My big concern is finishing my four-year study in this school. Money is needed for Medication, books, and personal items. I also need tuition fees. I have no hope for the future, except for the trust in God to make ways for me.

I want to be a journalist when I complete my studies. Through journalism, I will cover the untold stories in remote places of the world. I want to expose the rot such as corruption in society. I also want to earn a good salary that I will use to build and help my home. I need good grades for me to pursue journalism as a course. I cannot achieve this on my own. I am requesting you to be my sponsor. I hope God answers my prayers through you.

Yours faithful,

Billy Peter.
