My name is Evans Simiyu. I am born in 2006. I am the 7th child in our family. My mother's name is Janet Salano. My father died in 2011.

I attended my primary education in Malaha Primary from 2014 to 2022 where I scored 343 marks out of 500. Life with a single parent was very challenging as far as the paying school fees is concerned. My mom did not have money to pay for me. I was afraid to go to school because the teachers would remind me so often that I hadn't paid. I was working hard everywhere I went. Nevertheless, my best subjects were Kiswahili, English, Science and Social Studies.

My hobby is playing football. I used to collect some sugar bags and other bags which were thrown away to make my own ball.

Living Hope High School was the school of my own choice when I was in primary. I have always wanted a place where I am allowed to serve God without any obstacles and to study well without any hindrances because I want to be a doctor when I grow up and doing medicine needs good grades. As the saying goes, "Education is the only key to success" I will strive to achieve the desired goal that I have set ahead of me. God help me.

Yours Sincerely

Evans Simiyu
