

Flavian Veronica

Jambo! My name is Flavian Baraka. My birthday is December 9th 2007. I will be turning 15 in December. I come from Mumias, in Kakamega County. I am 2nd in the family of 6.

When I was 4 years, I was taken to the Hospital diagnosed with severe Malaria, and got admitted for two months because my parents did not have enough money to clear the bill. By good luck, got help from a Good Samaritan and discharged. Unfortunately, my parents separated because none of them was working.

I later Joined Mwitoti Primary School in class 1. Immediately I stepped in the class and I was chosen to be the class secretary up to class 4. I love to recite the poems. I was gifted to read a poem once and could recite without reading. I also participated very well in scouting and games. When I sat for the National exam, I really scored very well. I got 352 marks out of 500.

I love singing and dancing as well. I have never been a leader of the choir but I love following what the choir master is saying or doing. I think I will try to lead some day now that I am at the right place. I dislike sitting and doing nothing. When I am completely free, I always find myself writing songs and trying to sing.

The whole of primary life, all subjects were good to me but English and Mathematics were the best. I used to score almost everything in the two subjects I named above. I want to be an Engineer when I grow up and graduate. I will get to know whether I will go for electrical engineering or civil engineering, time will tell.

While I will be here at Living Hope, I will always do the right thing every time. I will obey school rules and regulation and Respect everyone. I am hoping to change the life of my parents and maybe bring them together once again. I am hopeful. God bless you

Yours Sincerely

Flavian Baraka
